

Report of Department of English Student Association (DESA)

8 November 2017

Journals

- Our scholarly journals, Slate and The Channel, have complete editorial teams.
- Our newly established journal of post-colonial studies is in the process of hiring a new editor-in-chief.
- Our creative journals Scrivener and The Veg are celebrating Scrivener's call for submissions at La Salla Rossa Thursday Nov. 9th 8-11pm.
- The Veg launch party for their Fall 2017 issue is Nov. 24th 8pm at Psychic City.

Tuesday Night Café Theatre

- For Coloured Girls by Ntozake Shange opens Nov. 15th.
- A special edition of Artifact will follow, featuring poetry by black artists.
- On Dec. 1st, TNC is hosting a 24 hour playwriting competition. Teams will have 24 hours to write and then perform an original play.

Upcoming Events

- DESA is having a book/bake sale in Leacock on Nov. 30th.
- Following the success of her first writing co-op, our literature stream representative, Sanjna Navani, will host an additional session in the next few weeks in Arts-305.

Respectfully Submitted,

Thomas MacDonald
DESA VP External