

Report of International Development Studies Students' Association
Wednesday February 21st, 2018

Event Reports

- The IDSSA held a successful IDPCC (International Development Policy Case Competition) at Thomson House on February 10 that was attended by esteemed academics and 5 teams who successfully made it to the final! An excellent event spearheaded by our VP Publications Corrina Vali.
- The IDSSA held its second annual Town Hall on February 18th where students were able to voice their concerns and suggestions for the program.

Upcoming Events

- The IDSSA is also working on bringing potential guest speakers to McGill in order to provide students with a critical perspective of practitioners in the many disciplines of development. We are aiming to host at least one major speaker for the winter semester.
- The IDSSA is planning on holding another Wine and Cheese night to bring IDS students together. This may take the form of a year end celebration for all program students.

General Updates

- The IDSSA apparel has finally arrived! Students will be picking up their hoodies throughout the week and will be rocking them around campus in the near future!
- The IDSSA has finally returned to its office in the basement of Leacock after recent construction that has booted us from our rightful home for the past year.

Respectfully Submitted,
